

The beginning of Lotte's Story Plant Adventure

It was a hot sunny day in June. The children met at the end of the street. They were full of energy and noisy. They had already decided what they were going to do. They climbed the stony steps to the top of the old castle. Suddenly they realised that they were being watched. Without thinking they turned around.

There was a dragon with smoke oozing from its nose who spoke! "I will lead you to the precious necklace." They walked through magic doors and strange rooms following each other. They came to a huge, golden door. It creaked open...

To be continued.....

