

The beginning of Shania's Story
Plant Adventure

It was a hot sunny day in June. Kim and Jodie skipped along the soft sand. They were laughing and joking with each other. Earlier they had discussed what they were going to do. Quietly, they entered the crumbling old house. Suddenly a deafening noise came from somewhere. Turning around, they couldn't believe their eyes. Lying on the floor was an old book that spoke! "To get the map you had better follow me" They walked through magic doors and strange rooms following each other. They came to a huge, golden door. It creaked open...

To be continued.....

