Wednesday

Class 2 visited Flag Fen to learn about the Stone Age, Bronze Age and Iron Age. Flag Fen is named after a beautiful, yellow flower called the Flag Iris. Fen is named after the flat land.

My favourite part was when we sat round the camp fire and the flames crackled in the wind. Alex told us a legend and brought out a sword, we had to decide if it is real or not.

I enjoyed <sup>it</sup> when we looked carefully at the Bronze Age boats. Alex, ~~the~~ <sup>our</sup> teacher for the day told us that ~~the~~ they spray wax on them to keep them but if they don't then they will go all mouldy and turn in to dust. What a great trip this was!

What a fantastic day it was! I would recommend anyone to go to Flag Fen I learnt an awful lot.

A lovely recount. The description of the fire is very good.

→ It is a shame you did not tell the reader how the boats were made or that you sat in an experimental one.
